Department Updates

Tutoring Center Journal

The Spanish Tutoring and Writing Center has created an online journal “Tu revista.” The main goal is to get some of the essays and compositions written by our students published on the site, in order to publicly recognise their achievements; and, at the same time, have examples to motivate other students. Take a look at turevista.unl.edu.

Spanish Immersion Day

The Spanish Club has an Immersion Day planned for November 2, 1-4 pm in the Ubuntu Room, in the Jackie Gaughn Multicultural Center. Please encourage your student to your students.

Also Spanish Club t-shirts are available, see attached for design) please contact Jill Gnade (jgnade2@unl.edu) if interested.

Kudos from the Chair

The first annual Modern Languages experience@UNL Day was held on October 28, 2014. This event was organized by language coordinators and staff in conjunction with leadership at Lincoln Public Schools. The following DMLL personnel assisted throughout the day:

Kaylee Barber	Brian Rentfro
Jana Jensen	Bethany Sanio
Catherine Johnson	Bob Shirer
Kelly Kingsbury Brunetto	Erica Schauer
Alisa Kushner	Cassandra Siefkes
Lola Lorenzo	Madeleine Shomos
Shannon Parry	Jordan Stump
Nora Peterson	Isabel Velázquez

There were also numerous undergraduate students who interacted with our high school guests – they were enrolled in courses the high school students attended, as well as those who participated in the luncheon and assisted with navigating campus. Special thanks are due to Cara Heminger, a French teacher at Lincoln North Star High School. Ms. Heminger was the LPS chaperone for the event as well as one of our biggest supporters – she had the highest number of students apply and attend our event.

Two student attendees were named recipients of a $500 scholarship from MLL.

French: Megan Deprez
Lincoln Southwest
High School.
Teacher: Marilyn Phelps.

Spanish: Brianna Escobredo
Lincoln North
Star High School.
Teacher: Cara Heminger.

The inherent value of such events is for recruiting future language majors and minors because of the positive feedback about UNL and our department that attending students will share with their friends. In addition, events like this also help high school teachers as they encourage their students to continue their language studies at UNL. Our hope is to continue Modern Languages experience@UNL Days in the future, and with your help and commitment it will grow and reap even more benefits for our programs. Please let us know if you have any suggestions of how/whether to continue in the future, and who among you would be interested in working with staff on organizing an annual experience@UNL Day.

-Evelyn Jacobson, Chair

Grad Student Opportunity

Outreach360, a leading provider of alternative break international service-learning programs, has a limited number of volunteer opportunities for leaders to join us in the Dominican Republic and Nicaragua from January 3 - June 27, 2015.

Our mission is to enable under-served children to live a life of choice - to be able to stay in school and graduate high school qualified to attend university or obtain gainful employment. We are currently working with 1st through 6th graders in a fishing village in the Dominican Republic and a mountain village in the coffee growing region of Nicaragua. Our focus is on teaching English and Spanish literacy.

Your role as a volunteer leader will be to help lead short term service-learning volunteers (college and high school teams, families, and individuals) and to actively teach/lead in the local classroom. Position requirements include an advanced knowledge of Spanish and fluency in English, a college degree, international travel/work experience, and leadership experience. Teaching experience a plus. Canadian or American passport required.

This is a great opportunity to gain international leadership experience while being immersed in the local culture.

Air travel from the U.S. or Canada, room and board, and health insurance provided. No salary. For more information, please e-mail hr@outreach360.org

Executive Memorandum No. 25

Policy on University Sponsored Travel by Students, Faculty, Staff, or Members of the General Public to Countries Under a U.S. Department of State Travel Warning or Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Travel Health Notice

In seeking to balance the benefits of international travel on educational, research, and outreach activities with the potential risks such travel might pose to students, faculty, staff, and members of the general public, the University relies on the guidance provided to travelers by the U.S. Department of State and the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

- U.S. Department of State Travel Warnings: The State Department's Office of American Citizens Services and Crisis Management (ACS) administers the Consular Information Program, which informs the public of conditions abroad that may affect their safety and security. Country Specific Information, Travel Alerts, and Travel Warnings are vital parts of this program. Travel Warnings are issued when long-term, protracted conditions that make a country dangerous or unstable lead the State Department to recommend that Americans avoid or consider the risk of travel to that country. A Travel Warning is also issued when the U.S. Government's ability to assist American citizens is constrained due to the closure of an embassy or consulate or because of a drawdown of its staff.
- Centers for Disease Control and Prevention Travel Health Notices: The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) is one of the major operating components of the United States Department of Health and Human Services. The CDC issues Travel Health Notices to inform travelers about current issues that may affect their health when visiting specific destinations. The CDC issues three types of Health Notices: Watch Level 1; Alert Level 2; and Warning Level 3. A Travel Health Notice at Warning Level 3 is issued when the CDC recommends that travelers avoid all non-essential travel to a destination due to high risk.

Travel by Students and Members of the General Public

It is the policy of the University of Nebraska that no university sponsored program of travel for students and members of the general public shall depart from the United States for a country for which the U.S. Department of State has issued a Travel Warning or the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) has issued a Travel Health Notice at Warning Level 3. If such a warning is issued after departure, the guidance provided by the warning shall be followed by participants in the affected area until the senior international officer for the University of Nebraska provides guidance and direction regarding the steps necessary to insure health and safety, including possible return to the United States.

Travel by Faculty and Staff

It is the policy of the University of Nebraska that any faculty or staff member seeking to travel under university auspices to a country for which the CDC has issued a Travel Health Notice at Warning Level 3 must first obtain prior approval for such travel by making a written request to the relevant University of Nebraska Chancellor. The Chancellor will make a recommendation on the request to the President, who will make a final determination.

Faculty or staff participating in non-university-sponsored, independent travel to a CDC Warning Level 3 country must report such travel to the Chief Academic Officer on their campus prior to departure.

All faculty and staff undertaking such travel, whether under university auspices or not, will be subject to appropriate screening and health monitoring prior to returning to campus in order to ensure the health and safety of the University of Nebraska community.

Waiver Process for Students

A waiver to the prohibition on university-sponsored programs in countries for which the U.S. Department of State has issued a Travel Warning may be considered in exceptional circumstances and can be requested through the process noted below. No waiver will be provided for travel to countries which are under a CDC Travel Health Notice at Warning Level 3.

- An administrator of a university-sponsored program to a Travel Warning country or an administrator on behalf of a student seeking to participate in a non-faculty-led program benefitting the student's curriculum of study may petition for a waiver to the policy by submitting, in writing, a written request to the cognizant Chancellor. The request should include a detailed explanation of why a waiver of the university policy is warranted, including the ability to avoid high risk areas, special circumstances and knowledge of the country in question or critical interests of the university. The request must include a University of Nebraska Waiver and Release Form signed by each participating student or member of the public acknowledging that he/she has been advised of the existence of a Travel Warning. In the case of a participating minor student, the Waiver and Release Form must also be signed by a parent or guardian.
- Upon receipt of the waiver request, the Chancellor shall convene a Review Committee to consider the same. The committee will provide a recommendation in writing to the Chancellor. Upon receipt of a positive recommendation, the Chancellor shall make a decision to support or deny the request. If the Chancellor supports the request, he/she will submit to the President a request for a waiver, including the original petition and supporting forms and related information.
- Upon receipt of the Chancellor's request, the President shall consult with the senior international officer and/or other appropriate resources. The President's decision to approve or deny the request shall be final and not subject to further review or appeal.

Eda is a prominent Czech writer, a dissident, a former

After the Soviet Invasion in 1968 Eda's texts were banned from newspapers, magazines, and media in Czechoslovakia. As a result, she was forced to work odd jobs. Despite the ban, Eda's works are published in many of the world prestigious editions, anthologies, and magazines. As a dissident, she was a close associate to Havel. After the Velvet Revolution in 1989, she was appointed by President Havel to his senior staff. Eda is an excellent source to learn about the transition from communism to democracy, and to learn about Havel's legacy. She has lectured at universities throughout the world.

Oct 29 Burning Bush (Hořící keř; A. Holland, 2013, 231 min.) @ City Campus Union – Heritage Room

World-recognized film on legacy of a student who put himself a flame protesting on Warsaw Pact troops invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968. Based on real characters and events, this drama focuses on the personal battles of Dagmar Burešová, a young female lawyer, who was defending Jan's family in a trial against the communist government, a regime which tried to dishonor Palach's sacrifice, a heroic action for the freedom of Czechoslovakia.

Nov 19 Closely Watched Trains (Ostře sledované vlaky, J. Menzel, 1966, 89 min.)

@ East Campus Union –
Goldenrod/Sunflower Room

Guest Speaker: Dr. Joe Swoboda

One of the best-known products of the largely banned Czechoslovak New Wave. Based on novel by Bohumil Hrabal, it is coming-of-age story about a young man working at a train station in German-occupied Czechoslovakia during WW II. Released outside Czechoslovakia during 1967, it won the Best Foreign Language Oscar but the film was unable to find much secure work due to his public antagonism toward the ruling Communist Party.

Dec 3 Larks on a String (Skřivánci na niti; J. Menzel, 1969, 91 min.) @ East Campus Union – Goldenrod Room

Guest Speaker: Dr. Bob Shirer

Set in the late 1940s, the film concerns the treatment of suspect "bourgeois elements", a professor, a saxophonist, and a milkman, who are put to work in a junkyard for rehabilitation. The movie was banned by the Czechoslovak government from the time it was made, and it saw release in 1990 after the fall of the Communist regime only.
