Nebraska Lecture Series Call for Nominations

The Research Council is soliciting nominations for the 2015-2016 Nebraska Lectures: Chancellor’s Distinguished Lecture Series. One Nebraska Lecture is scheduled for each semester. These are high profile public events and represent the highest recognition the Research Council can bestow upon an individual faculty member. In collaboration with the Office of Research and Economic Development, the Research Council established this lecture series in 2003. The purpose is to feature the significant achievements and contributions made by University of Nebraska-Lincoln faculty, to foster communication among students and faculty in different academic disciplines, and to present topics of public interest in a format that will attract a wide audience, including the local community and members of the legislature. The most recent four prestigious lectures included Drs. Dennis Molfese, Stephen Behrendt, Susan Swearer, and Timothy Gay. The Spring 2015 Nebraska Lecture will feature Dr. Daniel Claes, Physics and Astronomy.

The Research Council and the Vice Chancellor for Research and Economic Development need your help in identifying and nominating candidates for these prestigious lectures.

Please encourage nominations in your unit. Criteria for selection are 1) major recent accomplishment(s) that support a distinguished record, and 2) ability to communicate to an interdisciplinary audience. The nominee should be nationally or internationally prominent in his or her field.

To nominate a faculty member, please send electronically to Mari Greer (mgreer1@unl.edu, Office of Research and Economic Development) a nomination letter and the nominee’s CV that includes significant scholarly accomplishments with emphasis on the past five years. To be considered, nominations must be received no later than 5:00 p.m., Monday, March 2, 2015. Nominations will be kept confidential. The Research Council and the Vice Chancellor for Research and Economic Development will select the lecturers. Chosen lecturers will be notified immediately thereafter.

The venue for the Lectures is usually the Nebraska Union Auditorium. The suggested format for the lecture is a 35-40 minute formal presentation delivered in a style that would be accessible to the general public followed by a 15-20-minute question-and-answer session. A reception will follow the lecture to allow interested students, faculty and visitors to meet the distinguished lecturer.

Documenting Your Teaching: Teaching Statements and Teaching Portfolios

Thursday, February 19
9:00 – 11:00 a.m.
East Campus Union

Check-in at 8:30 a.m.

The teaching portfolio documents your expertise in teaching and, when used as part of your academic job search, can strengthen your job application.

This workshop will focus on:
- the major components of the teaching portfolio, including
  - creating a teaching statement and
  - collecting evidence of effective teaching;
- how to organize your teaching portfolio; and
- what you can do to make your portfolio most effective.

This session is for postdocs and graduate students preparing for the academic job market.

Dear Diggers:

ArchaeoSpain is now looking for students to join our international field schools at the following archaeological excavations in Spain and Italy:

Celtic-Iron Age Necropolis of Pintia
Valladolid province, Spain

Amphora Graveyard of Monte Testaccio
Rome, Italy

Byzantine Church of Son Peretó
Mallorca, Spain

Participants will join ongoing projects and work alongside professional archaeological to obtain first-hand experience, including instruction in excavation work, mapping, and artifact recovery and conservation.

Our programs also offer talks and workshops on different aspects of the dig, as well as excursions to nearby historical sites -- an essential part of understanding the historical context of your site.

ArchaeoSpain was founded in 2001 by a group of archaeologists and educators committed to providing cultural exchanges and experiences in archaeology.

Full information on the programs can be found at www.archaeospain.com
